Thanks, Tami. I am supportive of you calling tribes to make sure they got the information. It was mailed out weeks ago so they should have gotten it by now.

INTERNAL DELIBERATIVE

Representatives from Clark's Point, Curyung, Ekwok, and the United Tribes of Bristol Bay were on the webinar for tribal governments today. You could technically say BBNA representative as well, since Courtney was wearing both her Curyung Tribal Council and BBNA "hat."

I have attached the notes from the webinar.

Thank you for your efforts to conduct today's call for the tribes. While there were only a few tribal representatives on the line I believe they were thankful that we took the time to point out the changes in the assessment and to highlight sections that we would especially appreciate their review and input on.

I am a bit concerned that the tribes haven't all received our letter and would like to recommend that I make phone calls to each of them to ensure they have the CD and letter from EPA about tribal consultation. This would help in ensuring that they have received the information and also help to see where they are at with any potential requests for consultation.

If you are supportive of this effort I can start making calls tomorrow (at least to those that were not on the phone today).

Thanks! Tami
